DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

1. The drawings are objected to under 37 CFR 1.83(a). The drawings must show every feature of the invention specified in the claims. Therefore, the disc structure showing a plurality of heat sinks (as claimed in claim 6) must be shown or the feature(s) canceled from the claim(s). No new matter should be entered.

Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. The figure or figure number of an amended drawing should not be labeled as "amended." If a drawing figure is to be canceled, the appropriate figure must be removed from the replacement sheet, and where necessary, the remaining figures must be renumbered and appropriate changes made to the brief description of the several views of the drawings for consistency. Additional replacement sheets may be necessary to show the renumbering of the remaining figures. The replacement sheet(s) should be labeled "Replacement Sheet" in the page header (as per 37 CFR 1.84(c)) so as not to obstruct any portion of the drawing figures. If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Art Unit: 3683

3. Claims 1-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

4. Claim 1 recites the following limitations:

"the base body" in line 1;

"the inner assembly" in lines 2-3;

"the wheel hub" in line 4;

"the wheel shaft" in line 4;

"the two peripheral sides" in line 5; and

"the brake band" in line 6.

There is insufficient antecedent basis for these limitations in the claim.

5. Claim 6 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Re-claim 6, the recitation "decreasing" in line 2 renders the claim indefinite. It is unclear if the disk brake has a heat sink or does not have a heat sink. Claim 1 recites "a heat sink" which implies only one heat sink. Reducing the number of heat sinks would leave the disk without a heat sink. The recitation "decreasing" must be eliminated from claim 6.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

6. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

Art Unit: 3683

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

7. Claims 1-4 and 6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by US

2,368,985 to Heater.

Re-claim 1, Heater discloses a disk brake, wherein a base body of the disk is a circular disk structure that allows for heat dissipation (page 2 lines 1-7), an inner assembly 14 is joined with a wheel hub, a friction section is situated on two peripheral sides of the assembly section for forming a brake band, the disk brake is characterized that: the friction section is composed of a first brake surface 2, a heat sink 12, and a second brake surface 2, a plurality of heat sink ribs 10 are disposed between the heat sink and the friction surfaces that allow for heat dissipation.

Re-claims 2-4, the assembly section, first brake surface, second brake surface, and heat sink are molded as one unit, see figure 2.

Re-claim 6, the brake disc of Heater is capable of accommodating a plurality of heat sinks.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

8. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

9. Claim 5 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Heater in view of EP 0 318 687 to Keiner.

Art Unit: 3683

Heater teaches heat sink holes 20 in the first and second brake surfaces. However, Heater fails to teach heat sink holes in the heat sink 12. Keiner teaches a disk brake having first brake surface 4, a second brake surface 4', and a heat sink. The heat sink is provided with a hole 8. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to have provided the brake disk of Heater with heat sink holes in the heat sink structure as taught by Keiner, this would have increased the surface area exposed to fluid flow thus increasing the cooling capacity of the heat sink.

Conclusion

10. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Tack and Suzuki teach a brake disk with a centrally located heat sink. Krenkel et al. teaches a brake disk with circular holes formed in the braking surfaces.
